

training

business process improvement performance alignment workshops metric development
six sigma certification kaizen

coaching

executive coaching personal and professional development team and group performance coaching consulting

enterprise strategy alignment operational excellence
scorecard review sessions voice of the customer process and performance improvement balanced scorecard development / enhancement assessment

strategy alignment assessment
operational excellence
employee opinion
quality program
supplier assessment 360 feedback survey and assessment strategy management and performance development solutions

Executive Coaching Group’s innovative practice focuses exclusively on helping organizations understand, synthesize and align people, process and technology to critical performance outcomes.

Our team conducts strategic discovery sessions to gain full insight into a business challenge, followed by the design of visual roadmaps and frameworks that address the need and drive faster, better results. Executive Coaching Group consultants have worked with some of the world’s most recognized names. Executive Coaching Group teams combine various disciplines like engineering, technology, management consulting, journalism, illustration, process improvement, information design, interaction and architecture to align people, process and technology to strategy.

CHALLENGE

Effective communication is the lifeline of every business. With it, the best ideas are identified, shared, and executed more quickly. Without it, companies fail.

Executive Coaching Group works with its clients to help better ideas move faster to their audiences, driving understanding and action with measurable results.

Our consulting solutions include:

- Process improvement
- Performance measurement
- Business management systems
- Workshop facilitation
- Methodology development
- Blended learning
- Balanced scorecard systems

ACTION

We develop client solutions in three phases:

Discover: Fully understanding client challenges is at the core of Executive Coaching Group. We work with companies to distill critical information and co-invent solutions that get results.

Design: Executive Coaching Group designs methodologies, tools and frameworks to drive understanding across all target audiences, levels and situations.

Deploy: Executive Coaching Group partners with clients to develop ongoing strategic implementation, training and measurement plans to verify and sustain performance.

RESULTS

Communicating high level goals using individual performance targets drives faster understanding, increased retention and reliable results.

Companies hire Executive Coaching Group to drive sales, educate employees, convince decision makers, improve processes and integrate business activities.

Deliverables include:

- Employee training and development
- Highly productive management review meetings
- Roadmaps and implementation plans
- Process design and reengineering
- Transformational initiative support
- Deep dive assessments and analysis
- Coaching for high-potential employees and high-value teams